

U DISTRIBUTION S.A. Completes Change of Company Name to Evochem S.A.

Evochem®

November 28th, 2016

Dear customers, suppliers and collaborators,

U DISTRIBUTION S.A., distributor of MERCOLA, SWAN, Minos and PGP brands specialized in chemical products for the construction industry and DIY markets, announces the change of its name to Evochem S.A., effective December 1, 2016.

The name Evochem comes from the word “evolution” a gradual process of development, progress and growth, which is our company’s goal and the word “chemistry” which defines our core business. The new company name reflects how Evochem technologies and products play a substantial role in the innovative and sustainable solutions that its customers require in developing the next generation of chemical products.

The name Evochem captures our commitment to deliver products and services that provide substantial value to our customers and end users. We constantly develop new products, smarter, effective and more environmentally and user friendly in order to meet the future challenges. We collaborate with our customers to find solutions in complex material challenges, and innovating by designing new applications and products.

Our new name of Evochem better reflects our profile of a growing company with broad reach and a diverse portfolio of products and technologies.

Along with the name change, the company adopted a new logo and a new website that can be found at www.evochem.gr from December 15th 2016. Our company emails will be changed while the old will be redirected. The company’s VAT numbers, bank accounts, address, telephone, fax will remain the same.

Sincerely yours,

Vassilis Drymalitis
General Manager

